Lister Hall receives Refugees

For seventy-one refugees from Vietnam, almost eight months of anticipation came to an end two weeks ago when they arrived at their new temporary home, Henday Hall in the Lister Hall Complex.

Immigration officials contacted the University's Housing and Food Services department after realizing that its residences could possibly be used to house some of the Indochinese refugees arriving in Edmonton. Needless to say, Director Gail Brown and her staff gladly accepted and since Thursday, 2 August, have provided a home for some who thought it was simply a dream.

Ms. Brown describes the guests as "very pleasant" and adds that they appear quite content to sit in groups and socialize. Many are getting particular enjoyment from watching television and the lounges are often filled with laughter and fun, according to Ms. Brown.

Housing and Food Services have adapted some of their menus. Rice is served three times daily and much to the surprise of the staff, the Vietnamese are eating much more meat than was expected. Ms. Brown says that they are also enjoying the fresh fruit and vegetables and took an immediate liking to soft drinks.

Every effort is being made to keep the family spirit alive. Wherever possible, Ms. Brown and her staff add cots to the regular study bedrooms, which usually sleep two, in order that a mother or father can stay with the family.

Several memorable experiences have already rewarded the generosity of the University. For instance, on Saturday, 4 August, a refugee mother gave birth to a baby girl. While on Friday, 3 August, when the most recent group of refugees arrived at Lister Hall, a father and son greeted the newcomers to find that the remainder of their family, the mother and two children who were thought to still be in Hong Kong, had unexpectedly arrived as well.

Ms. Brown feels our guests are adjusting well, although immigration officials say the cultural shock will not become reality until they have been settled. Ms. Brown points out that, so far, the refugees have been busy with immigration procedures and filling in necessary employment forms.

It is not known how long the Lister Hall complex will house the refugees and, as Ms. Brown points out, it depends on how quickly sponsors are located and permanent homes found. In the meantime, no one appears in any hurry as staff and guests are just beginning to enjoy and understand one another. □

A Home and Jobs the Priority

Of the seventy-one Indochinese refugees recently arrived on campus, most came in family groups. For one of these families it took a year before their dream of finding a new home was realized.

Thach Bich Hoa, her husband, and three children are a very religious family. She found the Communist régime suppressing, particularly when it came to practising her own faith. The communist government would not allow anyone to pray to a god, only to revere the late leader of the communist party, Ho Chi Minh. This she could not live with or abide by. She also describes the constant fear that she and her family experienced. Thach says anyone labelled a capitalist would be arrested and sent, family included, to work farms, where they were expected to survive. It would be difficult, she says, as the government does not provide necessary tools or even seeds for planting.

Her family became so desperate to flee communist Vietnam that they spent a month aboard a freighter. Along with fourteen hundred other refugees, they withstood the crowded, unsanitary conditions in order to reach freedom in Hong Kong.

Their plight was not without interruption. On several occasions the communist police intercepted the ship and after anxious moments of interrogation allowed it to proceed. Their month-long voyage was also delayed for three weeks when the freighter went aground on a sand bar. Living on the beach for three weeks, awaiting the ship's repair without proper food or accommodation is an experience Thach does not care to dwell upon, but, the climax of the journey came when the freighter's entire crew abandoned ship. Fortunately, she says, several refugees were capable of taking over and their journey continued until they finally arrived in Hong Kong.

She and her family then spent two months in a refugee camp, in conditions which she describes as "very satisfactory." Finally, she approached Canadian immigration officials and received permission to emigrate to Canada. Here another chapter in the family's life begins.

Thach considers herself a life-long refugee. She was born and educated in Singapore and, after the Japanese conquest, she and her family moved to Vietnam. Once again, as a Chinese refugee in war-torn Vietnam, she was forced to find a new home elsewhere after the communist takeover.

Both Thach and her husband are well educated. He was a school principal while she ran her own practical English school. Her children, a son 32, and two daughters, 25 and 22 respectively, are also educated but they realize they will have to take any job in order to survive.

Thach speaks English with eloquence and her eyes light up when she looks toward the future. "When we have a house and jobs . . . it will be our happy time." □

Academic Support for Indochinese Refugees

The Relations with Governments Committee of the Canadian Association of University Teachers has suggested that local faculty associations sponsor Indochinese refugees, according to a CAUT news release issued on 3 August. The CAUT Committee considers the current refugee problem to be a crisis "which needs a humanitarian response," but understands that the resources of local associations will vary according to the size of the university or institution. According to the CAUT, the federal immigration authorities recognize that resources may vary across the country and allows sponsors to specify how many refugees they can reasonably support.

The CAUT Board, which will convene at the end of this month, will be asked to create a trust fund so that individual contributions will have "tax exempt" status.

Members of the staff of the AUCC, CAUT, OCUFA, the Social Science Federation, and the Canadian Federation of Biological Societies have already created a structure and have secured pledges from individuals within their offices so that they can sponsor refugees from Indochina. The Co-Chairman of this structure is Vic Sim of the CAUT and the Vice-Chairman is Michael Oliver of the AUCC.

For further information concerning sponsorship of Indochinese refugees, please contact Dr. V.W. Sim, Associate Executive Secretary, CAUT, telephone (613) 237-6885. □

Board of Governors

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Governors was held in University Hall on 3 August. The following matters were among the topics discussed.

Use of University Space

The Board received and approved a proposed revision from its Building Committee concerning the policy governing the use of University space by students, staff, and non-university groups.

It was noted that the former policy in effect until Friday, 3 August, was first approved by the Board of Governors in 1973. Since the implementation of the policy in November 1978, however, user groups had made several strong appeals concerning provisions of the policy.

The major thrust of the new policy adopted by the Board lies in its reversal of a decision to charge for the use of space to cover "incremental utility costs, caretaking, maintenance and operating costs" borne by the Department of Physical Plant and the Office of the Registrar. From now on it is intended that student and staff groups not be charged except for damage and "extraordinary clean-up" costs.

good. The government has approved only a grant of $24,062,366—a fund, it was noted with some concern, that allows neither for initiating construction of the much desired new home for the Faculty of Business Administration and Commerce nor for beginning work on a new building for the Faculty of Home Economics.

One of the Governors in particular, faculty member R.J. Crawford, was most vehement in his disapproval of the provincial government's grant. He observed that the 1979-80 capital grant is less than that which was approved for 1978-79 (with a concomitant loss in purchasing power of well over $1,000,000). He also noted with regret that some 320 qualified Alberta candidates had been refused admission last year to the Faculty of Business Administration and Commerce, to a large extent as the result of the lack of facilities within that Faculty. Another member, public appointee J.E. Barry, contrasted our province's need for managerial personnel with the University's present inability to meet that need. This concern was echoed by several members of the Board and led to the adoption of a resolution proposed by Chancellor Forest and Mr. Barry that the Chairman of the Board, Mr. Schlosser, and President Horowitz express to the Minister of Advanced Education and Manpower the Governors' "very strong concerns" about the inadequacy of the capital grant and about the lack of funds for a new BAC building in particular.

Arts I Restoration

Nevertheless, for all the anxiety over the capital grant for 1979-80, all was not gloom at the meeting of the Governors. The Building Committee requested approval, which it received unanimously, to forge ahead with the restoration of the Arts Building. In its proposal, the Building Committee recognized the structure's restoration as a "heritage project," a term whose precise meaning caused some Board members transitory difficulty. (Could the term be applied to the restoration of a building that really ought to be demolished?) Mr. Phillips, however, the Vice-President (Planning and Development) stated that, in the present context, the term referred to the intent of the project, that is, to restore the Arts Building to its original architecture but with modern electrical and mechanical systems.

Having approved an expenditure of up to $220,000 for the planning and design development phase of the restoration, the Board then approved the appointment of Bouey Bouey and Rutledge Architects as Prime Consultant for the project and the appointment of Cana Construction Limited as Contract Manager. □

Capital Budget 1979-80

Among the more interesting items on the agenda on Friday, 3 August, was consideration of the University's Capital Budget for 1979-80. The presentation of the Capital Budget for Board approval was made by the Building Committee in two parts: (1) a statement of the Capital Grant, 1979-80, approved by the Government of Alberta, and (2) a document summarizing the major and minor renovations to be effected during the current fiscal year.

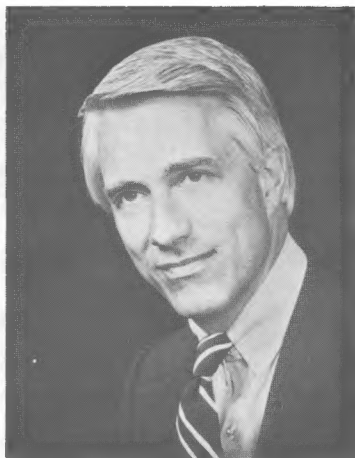

Given that the University had requested from the provincial government a capital grant of $33,795,539, the news was not

W. B. McMullen 1931-1979

"The Edmonton community has lost an outstanding and valuable citizen," said Dr. Bernard Snell, Hospital President, referring to the death of William B. (Bill) McMullen the Vice Chairman of the University of Alberta Hospital Board. The forty-seven year old Mr. McMullen, while on vacation in Jasper, plunged to his death at Maligne Canyon on Thursday, 2 August 1979.

Mr. McMullen graduated from the University of Toronto in 1954 in Commerce and Finance. He was admitted to the Institute of Chartered Accountants in 1957 and since 1963 was a senior partner with Coopers, Lybrand, Chartered Accountants.

Mr. McMullen had served on various committees of the Alberta Institute of Chartered Accountants and was a former Chairman of the Education Committee. He had over the years served as President of the Edmonton Ski Club (1971); Investment Chairman, Edmonton United Way (1975);

President, Edmonton Art Gallery (1972-73); Chairman, Alberta Art Foundation (1972-76); and, Chairman, Commonwealth Sculpture Symposium (1978).

In expressing his condolences, Dr. Snell noted that, "Mr. McMullen's years of community involvement have had a great impact on the people of Edmonton. Beyond his professional competence and dedication, Mr. McMullen will be long remembered for the dynamic role he played in the development of the professional arts community in Alberta through the Alberta Art Foundation. Dr. Snell continued by saying that "Mr. McMullen's experience had already greatly influenced the direction of Health Care delivery at the University of Alberta Hospital and doubtless the verve and energy of Mr. McMullen would have played a dramatic role in the policy development and delivery systems at the University Hospital in years to come."

On behalf of the Hospital employees, Dr. Snell expressed deepest sympathies to Mr. McMullen's widow, Lorie McMullen and children, Bill, Doug, and Marcia.

Mr. McMullen was first appointed to the University of Alberta Hospital Board in March of 1979.

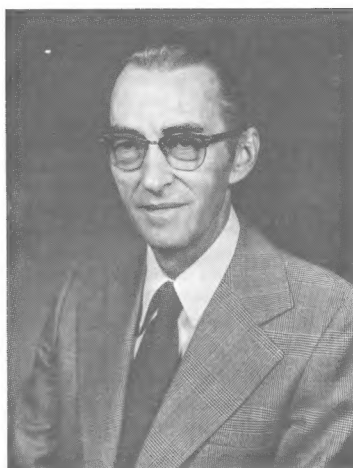

In lieu of flowers, donations may be sent to the University Hospital Foundation, Edmonton, Alberta T6G 2B7, to provide Alberta art for the new hospital in recognition of Mr. McMullen's work with the Board of Directors of the University Hospital and the Alberta art community. □

Gordon Mowat is named Minister's Representative

Gordon L. Mowat, until recently Associate Dean in the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research, has been named as Minister's Representative by the Hon. David King, Alberta's Education Minister. Dr. Mowat will receive and summarize for the Minister's consideration briefs from individuals and organizations concerning the recommendations contained in the Report of the Minister's Advisory Committee on Student Achievement, which was released earlier this year in May. Dr. Mowat is well suited to his new task, having established the Provincial Board of Post-Secondary Education, which led to the formation of the Colleges Commission, and having served as Vice-Chairman of the Cameron Royal Commission on Education.

Before joining the University in 1957 as Assistant Professor of Educational Administration, Dr. Mowat taught for several years in Alberta schools, becoming Superintendent of Schools in 1947, High School Inspector in 1950, and Assistant Director of School Administration in the provincial Department of Education in 1955. During his career at The University of Alberta, he became Professor of Educational Administration in 1960 and held the chair in that department from 1969 to 1973. In 1974, Dr. Mowat was appointed Acting Vice-President (Planning and Development) by the Board of Governors, a position he retained until the appointment of the present Vice-President, R.E. Phillips. Most recently, Dr. Mowat has served as Associate Dean in the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research. Dr. Mowat, a native Albertan, holds a BSc from Brigham Young University and an MA and EdD from Stanford University.

Gordon L. Mowat

The Minister's Advisory Committee on Student Achievement was established in October 1976 and was charged with the task of reviewing the quality and standards of achievement of basic education in Alberta. According to the provincial government's news release announcing Dr. Mowat's new appointment, the Advisory Committee also considered how student achievement should be assessed, maintained, and improved. In addition, the Advisory Committee studied the impact on the quality of education in Alberta of the abandonment of compulsory Grade 12 departmental examinations.

The Report of the Advisory Committee, released in May, contains three major recommendations:

1. that mandatory Grade 12 examinations not be reinstated for the purpose of awarding final marks;
2. that a province-wide sampling of student achievement be conducted annually as a means of monitoring student achievement; and
3. that Alberta Education establish a ten-member Student Evaluation Policies Board to advise the Minister of Education on student achievement.

Public meetings to discuss written submissions concerning the Report of the Minister's Advisory Committee on Student Achievement will be held shortly in October and early November in major centres across the province. Groups or individuals who wish to respond to the Report are asked to submit their briefs to the Minister's Representative in advance of any public meeting that will be scheduled for their area. The times and locations of the public meetings will be announced in the next little while.

In making the announcement concerning Dr. Mowat's appointment as Minister's Representative, the Hon. David King stated that "because the effective measurement of student achievement is so important to students, receiving institutions and the community, I hope that a considered response to the Advisory Committee's recommendations will be provided to Dr. Mowat for consideration of the Government." □

Singles on Campus

The Singles on Campus group was organized two years ago as a social club for single, divorced, or widowed people who wish to share mutual concerns and interests. The membership includes people who work on campus, but has always been open to any others who wish to participate.

The club will be resuming its activities in the fall, and invites interested persons to make suggestions regarding the planning of future events. In the past, members have opened their homes for the smaller functions and these have been very successful. Singles on Campus has been sponsored as a University group by the Student Affairs office of the University.
